

Over the past few years, we have seen an unprecedented explosion in our Spanish wine sales. Favorable press, stable & reasonable pricing and the pioneering hard work of the Spanish Wine Department led by our guru, Angel Agullar have all contributed to this wonderful demand. From the exotic & fun new wines from Priorat to the classically elegant wines of Ribera del Duero, Spanish wines offer a wide variety of flavors. At the risk of generalizing, they seem to combine the approachable fruit and roundness of New World wines with the sophisticated soil character of wines from Europe (naturally). To get specific, simply pull some corks and get to know the wonderfully diverse treasures of Spain.

RIBERA del DUERO
The Ribera del Duero follows the river Duero from the province of Soria to the province of Valladolid with most of the wine produced in village in Burgos. Ribera del Duero is famous for Vega Sicilia but the fact is that the soil and climate of the region are ideal for producing many wines of incredible depth, elegance and character.

Arzuaga Crianza '95
Still full of youth, this wine shows a deep dark cherry color in the glass. Lots of plum and blackberry flavors, soft tannin and a long graceful finish.
